Annie's Hope
Comprehensive Grief Workshop
1333 W. Lockwood, Suite 104
Glendale, MO 63122

Annie's Hope—The Bereavement Center for Kids is hosting a comprehensive, experiential, and didactic workshop for those who work with and support grieving children, teens, and their families before or after a death. Participants will be immersed in learning along with self-reflection in relation to personal experiences with grief. They will gain extensive knowledge and tools that can be used for personal and professional benefit. We invite all those who know that grief matters.

Objectives of the workshop:

*To explain the mission, philosophy, and programs of Annie's Hope.

*To identify the grief process theoretically, developmentally, and multi-dimensionally.

*To experience a repertoire of tools for use with grieving kids and their families, while also processing your own grief.

*To define the roles and responsibilities of a group facilitator and the dynamics of the group process across the age span.

*To develop hands-on skills through role playing and group Processing.

*To examine the value of self-care and to develop your own personal technique.

Goals for this workshop:

*To utilize grief knowledge in the school setting as a counselor, social worker, teacher, nurse, or administrator.

*To integrate grief knowledge in your work as you support kids and their families who are anticipating a death.

*To build confidence and refine skills to lead children, teen, and family grief support groups in a church, school, hospital, hospice, workplace, or community setting.

*To apply grief knowledge and tools to your own counseling practice.

*To volunteer for Annie's Hope in a facilitative manner.
